MESSAGE

I am pleased to learn that The Bombay Chartered Accountants' Society (BCAS) is completing its 75th anniversary. The organisation of a three-day Mega Conference on 'ReImagining the Profession' to commemorate the occasion is an admirable initiative. Heartiest greetings and best wishes to everyone associated with the Society during the course of this momentous journey.

During the last seven-and-half decades of service, BCAS has served the nation with dedication and commitment. The organisation's efforts have helped in further strengthening our economic fabric.

CAs play an important role in keeping our economic and financial systems robust by thwarting financial malpractices. The financial skills and knowledge of our CAs are admired globally.

Over the last decade, through fast-paced economic reforms, we have been guided by the promotion of inclusive growth. The series of comprehensive measures are bringing about a significant improvement in both - ease of doing business and ease of living. This has bolstered the nation's growth, as it marches ahead with confidence.

As Indian businesses grow more and increasingly integrate with the global business community, the role of CAs will be very important in ensuring that our businesses set the standards and best practices for the world.

I am sure that the presentations, panel discussions, interviews and leadership talks at the Mega Conference will pave the way for professionals in the field to exchange ideas on the road forward.

May the Souvenir being published showcase the spirit and essence of the occasion.

Best wishes for making the 75th anniversary of BCAS a success.
