Making Internal Audit Count: Rising to the Expectations - A Curtain Raiser

Internal Audit has long been acknowledged as one of the four pillars of Corporate Governance. Today's Internal Auditor prefers to be called Governance Risk and Compliance Professional or simply, a GRC Professional to reflect the increasing breadth of the scope and the changing nature of the internal audit activities. In present times of heated debates on Corporate Governance and the role of the various pillars, a question that need to be asked is: “Is the pillar of Internal Audit today strong enough to support Corporate Governance? Are GRC professionals rising to the dynamic expectations of the corporate world?” These questions require a dialogue – and we, at BCAS, have committed to enable a platform to initiate this dialogue in all sincerity. The Accounting & Auditing Committee will arrange a series of interesting and relevant seminars, talks, roundtables and workshops, as also, come up with insightful publications on the subject, throughout the year.

Join us for a unique curtain-raiser event, where eminent leaders will initiate a dialogue that will continue throughout the year.
