Public Lecture Meeting on “Direct Tax Laws of the Finance Act Bill 2022”

Dear Members,

Smt. Nirmala Sitharaman will be presenting her fourth budget on 1st February, 2022. Expectations from all sections of the society reach crescendo. Recommendations start pouring in from trade associations, banking sector, corporates, foreign institutions, professional bodies, etc. The finance ministry has to balance its revenue and expenditure very judiciously keeping the overall health of the economy and progress of India into consideration.

The professionals in the field of finance, direct taxation, corporate restructuring and indirect taxation look for evaluating the proposals in Part B of the speech of the Finance Minister as they deal with the tax proposals.

There will be lot of evaluation and deliberation immediately post budget on various economic initiatives as well as tax proposals announced in the Finance Bill, 2022.

The Part B of the Finance Bill dealing with tax provisions requires expert analysis clause by clause to decipher the implications for various categories of tax payers and various industries. To address the need of expert analysis, BCAS continues its tradition of holding a budget meeting for analyzing direct tax provisions of Finance Bill, 2022.
